- GHG emission reduction by 9,8% until 2030 compared to base-year (1990) emissions

Starting points

- Non-Annex 1 Party – UNFCCC financial support
- Clear, fair and ambitious target based on evolving global economic and national circumstances e.g. development goals (main emission sectors: energy, industry, agriculture and waste)
 - National economic development since app 2001, international economic crisis
- Extreme, already observed and projected climate change and its impacts on sectors
- Official data: energy balances, statistical data, sectoral strategies
 - GHG inventory – Serbian EPA

Main assumptions

- Increase the share of renewable energy sources in the final energy consumption and energy efficiency
- Increase the number of vehicles to the average EU per capita (increase in fuel consumption in the transport sector)
- The average growth in the economy app. 3% per year (BAT)
- Improvement of agricultural practice
- Increase the municipal waste mass, decrease the share of biodegradable waste in the total mass ; increase recycling and biological treatment
- The population will decrease by 8%, in accordance with [2] and [3].

Planned activities

- Climate change strategy with action plan ("review and strengthen countries' target") – IPA 2014
 - More efficient use of less polluting energy, incl. EU ETS
 - Cleaner and more balanced transport options
 - More environmentally-friendly land-use and agriculture
 - Inclusion of forestry sector
 - More sustainable and resilient cities – GEF
- MRV of achievement country' target– in compliance with MMR (IPA 2013)

COP 21

Expectations

- Officially and technically supports the EU positions:
 - Common legal framework that applies to all countries
 - Include clear, fair and ambitious targets for all countries based on evolving global economic and national circumstances
 - regularly review and strengthen countries' targets in light of the below 2 degrees goal
 - Hold all countries accountable – to each other and to the public – for meeting their targets

Thank you for attention!
